

Super Sleuths Writing Prompt

Anisha peered through the window. It was really mucky so she rubbed some of the dirt away with her hand and tried not to think of the millions of germs that were now crawling all over it. Through the murky window she could see someone moving. Someone she knew. What on earth were they doing? She crept to the door and pulled it open just enough to see in.

Can you continue the story using clever clues or suspicious suspects?

ANISHA
ACCIDENTAL DETECTIVE

